Just as me and millions of other Oregonians have had to learn how to "live within the confines of a budget" you folks need to do the same. Is it any wonder that ordinary people are being priced out of the blessing of owning a home? Even those who rent are not immune to the destruction of rising rents due to various jurisdictions continuing to raise our taxes. As an elderly citizen of this state--it is as though you folks have lost sight of the plight of the average citizen, who may not be in the circumstances where they get meaningful raises in their income. Put your thinking caps on, and come to the conclusion that you need to put the brakes on the reckless spending that you have indulged yourselves in year after year.
