

Submitter: Jonathan Hull

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Rules

Measure: HJR201

The last thing working families in the state need is additional tax. It's already expensive enough to live in the state but then to propose adding additional bureaucracy and higher taxes is crazy. The state has proven time and time again that it cannot manage the money that it already has been given. Why not enforce the laws already on the books and support our existing law enforcement instead of taxing citizens more. Earn the citizens trust back by managing the funds and resources that have already been given to you with respect and scrutiny before proposing more taxes and larger government.