Measure: SB1583

Basic content restriction is not discrimination. For a long while, we as a good and civilized moral society, have restricted content within many mediums. We restrict and rate age appropriate material in the movies we watch to the radio programs we air, and we restrict the content of advertisements that our children view such as alcohol and tobacco commercials. We do this for good moral reason as our children are highly sensitive to the adult content in these mediums. Basic age appropriate restriction to the content our children can access in our public school libraries is no different and is not discrimination, it is simply protecting their innocence as long as possible before they become adults and is basic common sense child rearing. Please do the right thing and protect our children whom you have been entrusted.
