Measure: SB1583

I support SB1583. Public education should provide a wide range of materials from which students can learn differing ideas, opinions and experiences. This can only happen when students are provided with a wide variety of learning materials. It is only in such a manner that students can make truly informed decisions. Education and learning should not be restricted to specific ideas and opinions. The broadest array of information is necessary. When certain facts and ideas are excluded students are unable to make truly informed decisions. Please pass SB1583.
