There is no doubt we have a humanitarian crisis of not enough housing BUT there is a smart way to tackle this crisis by every city analyzing every square inch of property within their boundary lines and submitting the under utilized land for potential housing. This is a two-fold solution—the infrastructure is already in place and the land is there. Once the boundary is pushed out, THE LAND IS GONE—Oregon's ultimate resource is our land. It's a win/win solution. Thank you,
