- Overview.
- Highlights from our 50-state comparison.
- Recent legislation.
- Q&A.

Instructional Time

- Instructional time policies vary from state to state.
- Time requirements are specified in days per year, hours or minutes per year, and/or hours or minutes per day.
- Some states specify what is counted toward the minimum school days per year requirement.
- Some states specify what is counted toward the minimum minutes or hours per day requirement.

Instructional Time

- Instructional time requirements are specified in statute and regulation.
- State policy may allow adjustments to instructional time requirements and definitions.
- Some states allow districts to set their own requirements.

School Calendars

- Many states allow districts to set their own start and/or finish dates for schools.
- Some states set start and/or finish dates in statute or charge the state board of education with setting them.
- Some states' policies are silent on the issue.

50-State Comparison: Instructional Time Policies

(Compiled February 2023)

State Examples:

Minimum Days, Hours, or Minutes Per Year Calculations

Alaska: A day of in-service training for teachers can substitute for one of the required 180 days, up to a maximum of 10 days.

Kentucky: The required 170 days must include 4 professional development days.

New Mexico: Some hours may be used for home visits or parent-teacher conferences for some grade levels.

State Examples: Minimum Hours or Minutes Per School Day Calculations

Arkansas: 6 hours including at least 40 minutes of recess for elementary school.

California: 180 minutes for kindergarten; 230 minutes for grades 1-3; and 240 minutes for grades 4-12. Recess and lunch breaks are excluded.

New Hampshire: Sets maximums rather than minimums. Elementary: 5.75 hours. Middle and high: 6 hours. Lunch, homeroom, passing time, and breaks are not included. Up to 30 minutes of recess for elementary school may be included.

State Examples: School Start and End Dates

Iowa:

- Start no sooner than Aug. 23 and no later than the first Monday in December.
- End date not set in state policy.

Maryland:

- Start no earlier than Labor Day.
- End no later than June 15.

Tennessee:

- Start no earlier than Aug. 1.
- End date not set in state policy.

Recent Legislation

Oklahoma H.B. 1087 (2025): Increases the required number of school days in a year from 180 to 181 and increases the required number of school hours from 1,080 to 1,086.

New Mexico H.B. 65 (2025): Clarifies that local school boards and charter school governing bodies are responsible for setting the number of instructional day per year and number of instructional days per week. Statute still provides the minimum number of instructional hours.
