As a single mother, this “transportation funding bill” truly worries me. Raising gas taxes, income taxes, and registration fees might seem manageable on paper, but for families like mine, it could mean the difference between keeping up and falling behind. I may not be labeled as “low income,” but I live paycheck to paycheck. I don’t receive government help or child support, and I’m doing my best to raise two boys on my own. Some months, it already feels impossible to make ends meet.

I’m asking you, from the bottom of my heart, to think about parents like me. Those of us who work hard every day, who go without so our kids don’t have to, and who are just trying to keep food on the table. Please remember us when making this decision.
