This is a horrible idea, and is just the first step to more control. We need to stop with the constant raising of taxes. The idea that taxes can be changed by the vote of a few is hard enough, but to take that voting process away and make it the power of just one person is absolutely absurd. NO ONE should single handedly have that much power over any group, especially an entire state.

If we allow the governor to have the power to increase taxes at will than that will be the "solution" for every issue that comes up. Putting a bandage over one problem is not a solution if all it does is cause or increase another issue.
