To Whom it May Concern,

I am writing you in opposition of the proposed increase of gas, payroll taxes, and increased vehicle title registration fees.

As a working family residing in the state of Oregon, we can no longer sustain the increases that seem to just keep coming at a rapid rate.

The continuous household budget adjustments to pay for services that really aren't provided at the state level is just too much, and the state really needs to look within own budget and figure out where the cuts and adjustments can be made before implementing more taxes on its residents. We have to be responsible and budget accordingly for our households, it's time the state did the same as its residents, instead of making them pay more taxes due to the states lack of managing funds.

Sincerely,
Erin Sanders
