Committee,

The people of Oregon already said "no" to new taxes, and it is unacceptable for lawmakers to push them through behind closed doors.

Here's what Oregonians expect instead:

- No new taxes.
- ODOT (departments) needs a full, independent audit.
- Fix roads and bridges, not bureaucracy.
- Prioritize money for highways, safety, and maintenance.

We cannot abide accepting new taxes without first auditing the departments and systems that are using the monies already collected. Oregon is one of the most taxed states in the country and the state has very little to show for it. This implies fraud, waste and abuse of the taxes already being collected and Oregonians are fed up with it.

Thank you,

Jonathan Quitt
