There is already gross mishandling of the cannabis taxes that ended in empty promises of school expansion and road repair. I absolutely am appalled that our govt would even consider a tax hike after failing to admit and use funds appropriately(to be blamed of the Republicans I assume). The homelessness is beyond out of control and your govt has already banned us being able to do anything. The police do nothing to help us and now you want to charge more for doing less? I don't understand where you think this funding is coming from when wages haven't increased anywhere near proportional to what rent, utilities, to be even survivable and even food has skyrocketed. When does it end? When everyone is homeless? Where are all these tax funds going we've already paid? They certainly aren't showing up in my community as road repairs or emergency assistance. It seems anything deemed for repair is swept into the oblivion never to be mentioned or acknowledged again. It's not showing up as rent reprieves or food stamps. Infact that's being stripped too. At some point this isn't sustainable and it shouldn't even be considered to take more from the daily working person. This is beyond insane to think of as a solution for anything other than the self gain over the American people in Oregon.
