I will be brief.

Oregonians are stretched thin enough as it is. The cost of living is high and yet you propose to increase our taxes because the State has not learned how to live within its means or nor how to prioritize its spending on things we actually need. An entity that cannot do these two things should not get more of our hard earned money, instead, it needs to learn how to spend money wisely, with the full understanding that all of the funds come from citizens- stop spending on your pet projects, extra programs, art pieces that do nothing to protect or provide for the people, or funneling money to your friends and start budgeting for the things all citizens actually need.

No higher gas taxes

No higher costs to register a vehicle

No more tax hikes
