Dear Lawmakers,

I am writing to express my strong opposition to the proposed tax increases. These new taxes are unnecessary and place an unfair burden on hardworking Oregonians.

Rather than asking citizens to give up more of their income, I urge you to reduce government spending in areas that are not essential to the daily well-being and safety of the average Oregonian. Programs such as DEI initiatives, legal actions against the federal government, and support for individuals who are in the country unlawfully should not take precedence over fiscal responsibility.

There is considerable waste in government, and before raising taxes, I ask that you carefully examine where cuts can be made. Oregon families are expected to live within their means — we ask the same of our government.

Please vote no on any tax increases and focus instead on prudent, essential governance.
