It's too bad that the Governor as well as her cohorts keep on trying to jam new and improved taxes on the people of Oregon. If she, and her cohorts, were at all knowledgeable, they would understand, the more the state taxes the less they get of it. Rather than trying to tax us Oregonians into poverty, by most standards we are already there, in poverty, the thought would be to grow the economy through less regulation, not more, less taxes, and not more. Which states are having their citizens flee the most? My suggestion is for the ruling class to take a look both backwards and forwards and what is happening currently to California, New York, and the United States on both coasts. Which states are growing the fastest and why? And finally, since there is no history nor civics lessons to be learned within the current public school system, probably the recent past as well, my suggestion is for "the leadership" to pick up a book and start reading what happened to Athens, Rome, the British Empire, Germany, Romania, the Baltic States, Russia, Cambodia, Viet Nam, and China just to name a few. We, The People, are fed up.
