No new road tax.

Just because the Legislature couldn't get their jobs done and pass a bipartisan spending package that would have required concessions from both sides of the aisle, does not mean that Oregonians have to pay the price for politicians doing poorly at their jobs. Oregon already taxes people near the highest rates across this country, and you keep coming back for more. How about work on cutting spending in places so you can find the funding you claim you need? It's a novel concept called BUDGETING.

No new road tax. Period.
