With absolutely no attempt to eliminate wasted dollars once again the Democrat controlled government of Oregon just adds to the tax burden of the motoring public. Why is it always the people who drive gasoline/diesel powered vehicles that pay for public transport that they rarely if ever use. I would like to see an increase in fares as well as public transit that is completely supported by user fees. I see many buses in Medford that are empty or very nearly so. Is it too much to ask that public transit is run like the business it is. Road repair costs are done by the most economic bidders and not fed to political supporters. One more reason why I have NEVER once voted for a democrat.
