Please do not add a new road tax! We need to see our roads actually being repaired with the taxes that we're currently being charged. Adding more taxes without adding accountability and ensuring our tax dollars are carefully spent will only strain the lives of hardworking Oregonians like me, who are already working as hard as we can just to create healthy families, keep our vulnerable adults and children safe, and transport them in the community where they can reach essential services. Ordinary people are the ones paying for car maintenance that is more expensive because of bad roads, and not having enough left over to meet critical needs. There is no reason that the government should charge us more, when they are not even using the funds they have effectively.
