NO NEW ROAD TAX. Gas taxes are unfair and hurt the working poor in Oregon, who typically drive older vehicles that do not get as good of gas mileage as newer models, and certainly can not afford an expensive electric vehicle. Speaking of electric vehicles, these massively heavy vehicles create more damage to the roads, yet do not pay the same tax as the rest of us.

I recently took a road trip through Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Montana, and Wyoming. Guess where the most expensive gas and the worst roads were. Yes, OREGON.

Oregon taxpayers do not need more taxes; we need legislators and a governor who will responsibly use the exorbitant taxes they already collect.
