As a very long-term Oregon resident, I am appalled by the way our government continues to botch the job of keeping up the infrastructure (road surfaces, medians, etc.) while constantly increasing taxes to take care of these critical infrastructure elements. We, the people, are the ones that pay, for what does get done, through our tax dollars. Unfortunately, those same tax dollars are all too often wasted on inefficient and wasteful practices by those in charge of keeping the infrastructure safe and secure. We also pay through injuries and deaths because of those same failures to do the jobs right.
