BACKGROUND:

The term "reparations" refers to making amends for a wrong that one has done, by paying money or providing help to those who have been wronged. The California Reparations Taskforce was created by California Assembly Bill 3121 (2020) to study and develop reparation proposals for African Americans. The cities of Detroit, Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago, and San Francisco have also established advisory groups or task forces to study and make recommendations on reparations for African Americans.
