I know we want to be green in Oregon. But we also have a housing crisis and a cost of living crisis. We are seeing net out-migration and our state needs to reverse this trend. Can we please focus on helping our people rather than forcing higher costs on all goods to our consumers just to make a .001% effect on global emissions? This is just not something that should be prioritized right now and is so disruptive to the commercial contracting and trucking industry that it really should not happen at all.
