

Submitter: Andrew Simrin

On Behalf Of:

Committee: House Committee On Climate, Energy, and Environment

Measure, Appointment or
Topic: HB2980

Current wildlife management often relies on short-term, lethal responses to conflicts, which fail to address the root causes.

Investing in proactive strategies reduces long-term costs for communities, landowners, and wildlife agencies.