Topic: SB769

As a resident of Southern Oregon, my family has had multiple occasions where mountain lions have attacked and killed livestock. We were able to kill several of those mountain lions under the direction of ODFW but we had several incidents where the mountain lion was never located and likely went on to continue to kill livestock on other properties.

It is my position as a property owner, and as an outdoorsman that the mountain lion population needs more control in our region and I fully support the ability for each county to have the freedom to regulate the mountain lion population as needed.

Sincerely

Chris
