

Submitter: Stanley Heath

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Labor and Business

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB916

The idea that striking employees should receive unemployment benefits goes beyond what unemployment insurance was designed for. This expansion will place unnecessary financial burdens on the state funds and ultimately, the taxpayers. Unions already have funds to pay out during strikes and those funds should be used instead.