Hello I am a retired registered nurse that moved to Oregon with the American dream in my heart. I bought and paid for 10 acres that included a creek and small house of under 800 square feet. My dream and happiness were pursued through this purchase. There is enough space for another house so that one of our children can establish themselves while caring for us in old age. It was always the plan, to die happy on land that I was the steward of. To provide space of safety for animals and trees. To be happy. I feel as an American I have the right to this simple dream and pursuit of happiness. I feel greed of resource is now destroying this pursuit of happiness. Sincerely,
Light Rain Venable
