NO TAX ON TIRES. As DOGE has shown, these funds are not spent responsibly. Why don't you put a tax on all plastics that are impacting the environment and our health, on pharmaceutical drugs that are polluting the water. Why don't you put a tax on breathing=install meters on people to see how much CO2 they are producing to see how much each person contributes to destroying the climate? Why not impose a tax on people who are living too long=the useless eaters and the burden they put on the planet. People should be required to justify their existence. Where are we headed with these agendas? Again, as I recall there is a law that says you can not impose a sales tax unless a plebiscite of the people support it. Taxation without representation.
