Your over zealous decision on the size of someone's home, is a very poor policy. Perhaps it suits YOUR lifestyle and needs, but not all families are similar. Take for example a family who supports adoption and has 5 adopted children. Would you support their wish that each child have their own private space, a bedroom? And how about multi-generational homes, where parents (perhaps both sets of parents) live under the same roof with their children and grandchildren. This might mean two kitchens, two living rooms, multiple bathrooms and bedrooms. Almost impossible with the 2500 square foot guideline you wish to impose. Please allow families to build whatever suits them best! Vote against this poorly written SB 78. Thank you.
