I pay my fair share. I work everyday to limit my impact on this planet. I choose renewable and sustainable choices everyday. But that doesn't matter because big tech gets to destroy our planet, our electric grid, and everything else they want because they "bring jobs." This a sad stance to take in a climate that is wasting away because of our use. Then you find out these companies pay zero to offset the strain they put on our grids? This is beyond predatory and ridiculous. Why do they get more than the people? They don't provide necessary services. If we don't limit their reach we won't have a country to live in. Please do what's right and stop allowing these companies to walk on the backs of the workers.
