

Submitter: David Parker
On Behalf Of:
Committee: Joint Committee On Ways and Means
Measure, Appointment or Topic: HB5006

The Oregon Climate Superfund bill (SB 1187) just introduced in March 2025 could be a huge source of funding for climate adaptation as the costs of climate change escalate and threaten state and local budgets across Oregon (particularly in rural communities) and could exhaust Emergency Board funding. Climate Superfund bills were passed and signed into law in Vermont and New York State in 2024. Why not Oregon?