Dear Chair Golden, Vice Chair Nash, and Members of the Committee,

I am writing to support Senate Bill 1153, safeguarding fish habitat and water quality in water right transfers.

The water in our streams is our state's lifeblood. It grows our salmon and our food, and it fuels our families. It ties us to our neighbors upstream and downstream. It belongs to all of us.

It is time to close the outdated loophole which allowed the Oregon Water Resources Department to approve applications for water right transfers without adequate consideration of whether the change would harm our streams. Lower water levels in a stream can hurt fish, impair water quality, and decrease scenic and recreation values.

Senate Bill 1153 safeguards our streams—and the fish habitat, water quality, and cultural values they support—by ensuring the state doesn't grant permission for voluntary water right changes that further harm fish habitat and water quality. This fix closes a dangerous loophole and brings modern environmental values into Oregon's outdated water right transfer review process.

I urge your support of SB 1153 and the life-sustaining streams it will safeguard.

Sincerely,
Jan Weihmann
