Barred owls us the spotted owls

I wrote to the US Fish and Wildlife Service to petition for a Barred Owl Management Strategy. I think that all owls should be protected so no one can kill them any more. That people are going to kill one half of a whole population of barred owls just to save the spotted owl's population. And some people do not want to kill the barred owl because of the tax paid mint. And David Gomberg, D-Otis said " I can not support a plan that calls on taxpayers to front $45 million a year to cull a protected species. Some people do not want to kill the barred owl because of the tax paid mint. If you see trash pick it up so animals do not eat it or get harmed by the trash. Make sure that if you have trash put in the trash can or recycle if it is paper or clean plastic bottles. And use the three R Reduce Reuse and Recycle

species

What is invasive species and the disinfecting of what happens to other animals with an invasive species. If you are wondering what an invasive species is, I have your answer. For example if a bunny lives in a forest by a beach then a person puts it on a beach. The bunny would not know what to do so then the bunny might see a crab then eat it and keep eating crabs. Then the crabs might soon be endangered because of the bunny eating all the crabs. And the bunny would be an invasive species. So if you take an animal to a new habitat and there are known other animals like a bunny it does not know what to do. ~~It~~ ~~it~~ ~~it~~ ~~it~~ means it is an invasive species. ~~It~~ ~~it~~ ~~it~~ ~~it~~ sometimes invasive species compete for food, habit and much more. But if they compete the other animals can be hurt, harmed, killed, or might not get food or they might be too scared to go out of a cave, den, tree or wherever it lives there are many more reasons. And be more careful not to bring animals to new places like in the story. So people have to deal with invasive species.

Barred owl vs spotted owl

The two arguments of the barred owls vs the spotted owls. The two arguments of the barred owls vs the spotted owls. The spotted group is called A and the barred owls group will be called B. Let's start with you group A. People want to kill barred owls because they want to help save the spotted owls. Spotted owls have to fight for food, habitat because of the barred owls. And they want to make sure that future generations can see and hear the spotted owls. If we do not act now people may never see or hear spotted owls again. If the spotted owl is gone the barred owl will be even more popular so then it might start to eat other animals go instinct. B so many people say that we should not kill the barred owl. People say 'We should not kill the barred owl to save another bird'. Here are some questions people have like what if the barred owl then goes extinct? Or what if it still does not work and we kill a barred owl for no reason? Why are you going to kill? What if we shot a spotted owl? People ask them to make sure that the barred owl will be safe. Which do you agree with?

My opinion

My opinion is that we should not kill barred owls. The reason that we should not kill barred owls is that they do not harm people so why do we have to kill them. I do not think that we should just kill them just to save the spotted owls, because why do we have to kill owls? I think all owls should be a protected species. Because to some people owls are their favorite animal. To me the barred owls we might go back to the same problem that we have now. Like say we might be doing barred owls vs barred owls and then people will do all of them again and again, so we might always have this problem. Everyone's voice matters so I think that we should not kill them because my voice matters too. This might keep going on for different animals so I think we should stop it now. And I think we should not kill owls. Everyone's voice matters so I think that we should not kill them because my voice matters too. They should stop going on for different animals so I think we should stop it now. And I think we should not kill the barred owls just for the spotted to stay alive. But I think that people that help protect the spotted like me might be bird watchers. And they will miss seeing the spotted owl. And the spotted owl is a protected owl. It might be their favorite owl or their favorite bird.
