1. Do Oregonians really need to finance a baseball stadium over 30 years? Let's look at the facts. The state capitol construction is in cost over -run, and the project is not completed.

ODOT is in cost over - run on the I 205- bridge project and Oregon roads are the worst shape that they ever have been in my lifetime. The verbiage in the bill adds financing costs as well as the $800 million means that the total cost to the state/Oregon tax payers could be doubled and put on their backs. Does the 1.5 billion include interest accrued? Why should the state and Oregonians be the risk taker? Oregon has the highest income tax in the nation. Let the billionaires finance the stadium not to be put on the backs of Joe or Josephine lunch bucket who is just trying to provide for their families. We need O-DOGE.
