As an home health/skilled nursing occupational therapist and longtime resident of Oregon, mail-in voting has ensured my voice is heard and the voice of many of my patients in the geriatric population who struggle to make appointments for their own health. Making this a requirement reduces their ability to vote and puts them in danger on Election Day, forcing them to fall in line and cause more distress for their families.

This bill stands to compromise our liberty, freedom and the integrity of a democratic process. Mail in voting allows me to work on Election Day since it is not a recognized holiday. Please protect our rights and liberty. Oregon's storied history with mail-in voting distinguishes it from other states and is why we often have higher turnout. We should be hearing from more voices in a democracy, not less.
