

Submitter: John Hale

On Behalf Of:

Committee: Senate Committee On Rules

Measure, Appointment or Topic: SB210

The rate of voter fraud is vanishingly small. Efforts to require in-person voting are designed to make voting harder to accomplish thus lowering voter turnout. An alarmingly high percentage of eligible voters already do not vote. We should be doing things to encourage people to vote not discouraging them. We have many important issues to deal with. We do not need to waste time with efforts to fix imaginary problems.