I am in support of in person voting. Voting was done this way when I was a young new voter, and then we, as a state, were the first to offer mail in voting. Since that time, in my opinion, we have had lower returned ballots and there is always the possibility of ballot loss/damage from regular mail delivery and fire bombs at drop boxes as we witnessed in Portland this last fall. In person and with ID is the way it should be now with all the craziness going on. We need to protect this system better than we have in the past.
