I am against making in-person voting on the date of an election the standard method for voting in Oregon, I am also against limiting mail-in-vote options or imposing stringent identification requirements when casting a vote. Oregon currently maintains a gold-standard example of implementing a universal vote-by-mail system. It has positively impacted our state's voter turn-out in past election cycles and increased accessibility for all registered voters. Requiring in-person voting on election day would disenfranchise voters and decrease voter turn-out.
