Removing mail in balloting will negatively impact the most marginalized, impoverished and vulnerable communities. Many ethnic minorities do not have the necessary ID to vote in person. Many disabled and elderly rely on others for transportation, as do many who live in poverty. Those in rural communities would also have issues getting to the polls. Many people, like myself, live paycheck to paycheck and can't afford to take time off work to go to the polls. Removing mail in balloting tells all of these people that they don't matter and their votes don't count.
