I believe that infertility should be covered by insurance companies. Couples who struggle with infertility should not have to be out of pocket thousands of dollars. Let alone suffer from mental, emotional and physically from infertility. I have a very close friend who has close to $100,000 out of pocket for multiple testing, doctors appointments, and consults. Infertility is expensive care and should not be denied access of care. Infertility deserves the same medical treatment and care from Insurance companies as other medical needs.
