Only 4 appointed agencies telling the rest of the state what water is available! No way. These water issues must go to local jurisdictions and only on the ballot for the people locally to decide. This gang of 4 has only one outcome, the non elected authorities are going to tell the citizens who gets water and who does not . Water is the new gold, only the big money lan owners and developers are going to be able to afford the fees, get loopholes in permitting and political favor.

My land, my well, my water. My roof, my rain runoff, my water. My land with a spring, my water. My cistern my water.
