As a life long Oregonian I oppose any new tax, odot budget issues should be fixed with fixing the mismanagement, not taxing the people further. In my lifetime I've watched as this state has "improved" our roads. There is not only senseless construction to hwys and freeways that have functionally been sound my entire life, there has also been zero to make sensible improvements to dangerous intersections that are used by commuters. We don't need electric busses or social justice positions in odot, we need safe roads and a budget that can be reduced by cutting the fat, eliminating positions that do nothing in fixing or maintaining our roads.. if I have to budget my finances odot and the state of Oregon officials should have to as well, just as my employer would laugh me out of the office if I was to demand more money after getting a raise for less work, we the people are saying NO.
