Wages are important to people. We all work hard and everyone deserves the right to life love and the pursuit of happiness. The way I see it, when a group goes on strike, it's for unfair work environments and unfair wages. It takes a brave person to stand up to an employer or governing body. The loss of pay while trying to fight for workers rights can harm and affect the lives of that person and everyone in their household. Unemployment is important and deserved to those taking a stand for the rest of the public. Do the right thing and assure we the people have a fighting chance to stand up and protest. Thank you for your time
