I am in opposition to SB916. Why should we grift more tax money via unemployment when striking union workers decide to strike. Doesn't the union collect fees for strike pay? The unions already have too much power in Oregon & this just increases the tax burden on private employers & tax payers. Unemployment is for those who are UNEMPLOYED, not those temporarily on strike. All these costs will be passed on by businesses. Why do you insist on the only business left as the state government with no growth in the private sector.

Public unions & the AFL/CIO have too much power in this state & this just gives them more.
