Digest: This Act makes Portland-area cities and counties make up the usual costs to a builder when making the builder add low-cost homes. (Flesch Readability Score: 61.4).

Prohibits cities and counties within the Portland MSA from enforcing requirements that developers provide affordable units in multiunit dwellings unless the city or county first calculates the developers' average expected losses due to providing affordable housing and the city or county offsets those losses.

Becomes operative for rental housing on January 1, 2028.

Becomes operative for all housing on January 1, 2029.

1 or that requires new multiunit housing to be designated for sale or rent as affordable hous-
2 ing.

3 (3) A regulation or requirement under this section must provide developers with the op-
4 tion to pay an in-lieu fee, in an amount determined by the city or county, in exchange for 5 providing the requisite number of dwelling units within the multiunit housing to be sold or 6 rented at below-market rates.

7 (4) A city or county that adopts or imposes a regulation or requirement described in this
8 section may not apply the regulation or requirement to any multiunit housing if, prior to the

11 and is deemed complete under ORS 215.416 or 227.178; or 12 (b) A building permit application has been submitted.

13 (5) This section does not restrict a local government from offering incentives, in addition
14 to any required by section 3 (1)(a) of this 2026 Act, on a voluntary basis to encourage a de-15 veloper to:

31 that executes and records a covenant enforceable by the applicable city or county in which
32 the CCRC agrees to operate all units within its structure as a CCRC. Units within a CCRC
33 that are offered or converted into residential units not subject to ORS chapter 101 must 34 comply with regulations or requirements consistent with those applicable to new multiunit
35 housing under this section.

36 SECTION 3. (1) A regulation or requirement that is adopted or imposed under section 2
37 of this 2026 Act within the Portland MSA and is applicable to rental housing is not enforce-38 able unless:

39 (a) The regulation or requirement requires the enacting city or county to offer to a de-
40 veloper of multiunit housing that elects not to pay an in-lieu fee pursuant to section 2 (3)
41 of this 2026 Act one or more of the following offsets in an amount totaling at least the ex-
42 pected marginal loss in value for a prototypical multiunit housing by type, as calculated un-
43 der paragraph (b) of this subsection:

44 (A) Immediate or structured cash payments.

45 (B) Full or partial exemption from ad valorem property taxes.

1 (C) Whole or partial waivers or reductions of fees, including impact fees or system de-
2 velopment charges, provided that those fees have been assessed for multiunit housing for at 3 least 30 of the 72 months preceding the date on which the regulation or requirement becomes 4 operative.

5 (b) Within the previous six years, the governing body of the city or county has adopted
6 by ordinance an economic analysis of the regulation or requirement that calculates the av-
7 erage expected marginal loss in value of a prototypical multiunit housing, by type, that would
8 be expected to result from compliance with the regulation or requirement.

9 (2) For the purposes of the economic analysis under subsection (1)(b) of this section, a
10 city or county:

11 (a) May use, for costs and benefits that would accrue over time, including lost rents from
12 below-market homes and multiyear tax abatements, a net present value calculation or a 13 comparison of the current market valuations, or a combination of the two.

14 (b) May apply a discount rate on future benefits using a 10-year treasury bond rate plus

18 (d) May assume that the loss in value is equal to the net present value or the current 19 market value of the expected change in rent, or a combination of the two.

20 (e) May segment multiunit housing types by the numbers of bedrooms. If the analysis is 21 for a city that has a population of 75,000 or more, the analysis must also segment the types
22 by at least two geographic areas. Analyses may include segmentation by additional ge-
23 ographic areas or by other relevant factors.

25 feet.

26 (g) May select a typical development prototype in the market area.

27 (h) May structure its economic analysis in any manner.

28 (3) If a city or county within the Portland MSA, other than the city of Portland, adopts
29 a regulation or requirement that requires maintaining any rental units as affordable housing
30 and provides an offset under subsection (1)(a) of this section in the form of a property tax 31 exemption that is provided over more than one property tax year, the period of the 32 affordability requirement may not be longer than the term of the property tax exemption.

33 (4) In adopting or applying an economic analysis under subsection (1)(b) of this section
34 or a regulation under section 2 of this 2026 Act based on such an analysis:

35 (a) The city or county is entitled to deference in its reliance on analyses, calculations,
36 assumptions, factors, consultants, experts or data that may be used by accepted economics
37 industry standards or that may reasonably be relied upon by an economist or analyst with 38 relevant certifications or expertise.

39 (b) A city or county is not expected to perform an individualized economic analysis for 40 each development.

41 (c) A developer is not entitled to individual or actual losses in value.

42 (5) A city's or county's adoption of an economic analysis under subsection (1)(b) of this
43 section:

45 (b) May be appealed only by writ of review.

1 (c) May be appealed only within seven days following the adoption of the analysis or the
2 adoption of a regulation or requirement based upon the analysis. If a city or county prevails
3 on an appeal under this paragraph, the city or county is entitled to reasonable attorney fees.

4 (6) A city or county decision is reviewed as a limited land use decision, subject to sub-
5 section (7) of this section, if the decision:

6 (a) Applies an economic analysis adopted under subsection (1)(b) of this section or a
7 regulation adopted under section 2 of this 2026 Act based on such an analysis to a develop-
8 ment application;

9 (b) Calculates the offsets to be offered to a developer; or

10 (c) Calculates the value of offsets provided to a developer.

11 (7) Notwithstanding ORS 197.195, for a decision made under subsection (6) of this section:

12 (a) Only the applicant may appeal the decision; and

13 (b) If the city or county prevails on an appeal, the city or county is entitled to reasonable

16 Sec. 3. (1) A regulation or requirement that is adopted or imposed under section 2 of this 2026
17 Act within the Portland MSA [and is applicable to rental housing] is not enforceable unless:

18 (a) The regulation or requirement requires the enacting city or county to offer to a developer
19 of multiunit housing that elects not to pay an in-lieu fee pursuant to section 2 (3) of this 2026 Act
20 one or more of the following offsets in an amount totaling at least the expected marginal loss in

22 section:

23 (A) Immediate or structured cash payments.

24 (B) Full or partial exemption from ad valorem property taxes.

25 (C) Whole or partial waivers or reductions of fees, including impact fees or system development
26 charges, provided that those fees have been assessed for multiunit housing for at least 30 of the 72
27 months preceding the date on which the regulation or requirement becomes operative.

28 (b) Within the previous six years, the governing body of the city or county has adopted by or-
29 dinance an economic analysis of the regulation or requirement that calculates the average expected
30 marginal loss in value of a prototypical multiunit housing, by type, that would be expected to result
31 from compliance with the regulation or requirement.

32 (2) For the purposes of the economic analysis under subsection (1)(b) of this section, a city or 33 county:

34 (a) May use, for costs and benefits that would accrue over time, including lost rents from
35 below-market homes and multiyear tax abatements, a net present value calculation or a comparison
36 of the current market valuations, or a combination of the two.

37 (b) May apply a discount rate on future benefits using a 10-year treasury bond rate plus a
38 risk-adjustment spread.

40 spread or rate that is informed by data or interviews about current market conditions.

41 (d) May assume that the loss in value is equal to the net present value or the current market
42 value of the expected change in rent or sales price, or a combination [of the two].

43 (e) May segment multiunit housing types by the numbers of bedrooms. If the analysis is for a
44 city that has a population of 75,000 or more, the analysis must also segment the types by at least
45 two geographic areas. Analyses may include segmentation by additional geographic areas or by

1 other relevant factors.

2 (f) May estimate the loss in value on the basis of housing units or on the basis of square feet.

3 (g) May select a typical development prototype in the market area.

4 (h) May structure its economic analysis in any manner.

5 (3) If a city or county within the Portland MSA, other than the city of Portland, adopts a reg-
6 ulation or requirement that requires maintaining any rental units as affordable housing and provides
7 an offset under subsection (1)(a) of this section in the form of a property tax exemption that is 8 provided over more than one property tax year, the period of the affordability requirement may not
9 be longer than the term of the property tax exemption.

10 (4) In adopting or applying an economic analysis under subsection (1)(b) of this section or a
11 regulation under section 2 of this 2026 Act based on such an analysis:

12 (a) The city or county is entitled to deference in its reliance on analyses, calculations, assump-

18 (c) A developer is not entitled to individual or actual losses in value.

19 (5) A city's or county's adoption of an economic analysis under subsection (1)(b) of this section:

20 (a) Is not a land use decision.

21 (b) May be appealed only by writ of review.

22 (c) May be appealed only within seven days following the adoption of the analysis or the 23 adoption of a regulation or requirement based upon the analysis. If a city or county prevails on an 24 appeal under this paragraph, the city or county is entitled to reasonable attorney fees.

28 adopted under section 2 of this 2026 Act based on such an analysis to a development application;

29 (b) Calculates the offsets to be offered to a developer; or
