

Submitter:

michael ferolito

On Behalf Of:

Committee:

House Committee On Judiciary

Measure, Appointment or Topic:

HB4145

There is no justification to have different Second Amendment rights for different categories of citizens. How does limiting the self defense capabilities of most citizens while giving others, like retired probation officers, make sense? Both these categories could find themselves in a situation where they have to defend themselves, their wives/husbands/partners and children. Are some lives more deserving of the ability to protect themselves?