HB4125

Oregon citizen's are not to be considered a bottomless pit of revenue for the state of Oregon. There are taxes on the books and those are sufficient. We should not continue to look for additional ways to spend the citizen's money. Nor should one group receive more focus than another group when administering a tax. In all due respect, this money is not the legislature's money. Whatever is garnered through taxation is expected to be managed in a fiscally responsible manner as if it was one's own check book. The people provided their feedback on the kicker in the past. We should not be looking for ways to undo previously approved policy unless we're planning to give even more back to the people.
