I have been a regular visitor and tourist of Yachats, Oregon, as well as much of the coast, for the majority of my life. I have stayed at countless hotels, vacation rentals, and inns alike. I support this bill and would not in any way be deterred by an increase tax on my bill to support Oregon wildlife and conservation. This is exactly why I come to Oregon — to enjoy what the state's wildlife, land, and beaches have to offer. I would gladly pay any tax to keep what I love about Oregon protected. In fact, I would love to come MORE often to support just this. Many of my friends and family feel the same — we want to preserve Oregon and will pay gladly to do it. This does not kill tourism, just the opposite. Protecting what you want to visit and treasure is of the utmost importance. I support this 100%.
