

Vote no on 114. Measure 114 infringes on the Second Amendment and Oregon Constitution.

It has major issues concerning the burden of the permit-to-purchase system, the ban on magazines holding over 10 rounds, and logistical challenges for law enforcement.

Requiring a permit, mandatory training, and fingerprinting for gun ownership creates an undue burden on a constitutional right.

The ban on magazines capable of holding more than 10 rounds are standard for many firearms, including common home-defense firearms.

The permitting process is time-consuming and costly, potentially limiting access for low-income individuals.

Police agencies have raised concerns about the logistical, financial, and staffing difficulties in implementing the new training and permitting requirements.

Let's not forget that the new permit system would be redundant because federal background checks are already in place.
