HB4145

I oppose House Bill 4145 because it would disproportionately affect minorities and other marginalized communities, further deepening existing inequalities in access and opportunity. By creating additional financial and procedural barriers to purchase, the bill effectively restricts the exercise of a constitutional right, placing that right out of reach for many law-abiding individuals. I believe that imposing such barriers undermines the intent of constitutional protections and sets a dangerous precedent by allowing access to fundamental rights to be determined by wealth or social status.
