I have spent my life going and picking berries at farms and taking children to pumpkin patches for the holidays. I also work in a community that supports farm table experiences that can only be had at these privately owned farms. This pressure to change how local farmers choose to use their farms in outreach to the community is Ludacris. This group of people trying to change the law should be ashamed of themselves. Family farms are a staple of this community as we also have farmers markets that they support throughout our city and state.. Please stand up for what's right, deny paragraphs from big farm.
