Safety is the context that they have built their case on. Safety is being able to protect you and the people around you from criminals and tyrannical government. Criminals do not care if you make things illegal, as far as I am concerned that's just you daring them to figure out how to break the laws that have been created. There has always been and always will be criminals it's written in the words history. Oregon protects the agendas and values to which they can get federal funding by doing so. Oregon gives free everything to people that choose to be a burden on society, and tax the productive member of that same society to death. This bill and the others like it are as far from American in value as you can get, but it's real obvious the supporters aren't for America, they are giving hand outs to gain support.

How about get outside the city, explore the beautiful outdoors meet the people you are trying to harm with these radical laws you are trying to implement. Maybe then you might find comfort in something other than feeling "safe" from the walls in which you stay confined in.

I love everything about Oregon, except our non god fearing government that makes bad decisions that affect everyone.
